

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

LENOR COREEN AGUINALDO, M.Ed. (De La Salle University) is the Executive Officer of both the Office of the Vice President for the Laguna Campus and the Office of the Dean of the School of Innovation and Sustainability at De La Salle University, Philippines. She was a graduate student in the Department of Educational Leadership and Management at the Br. Andrew Gonzalez FSC College of Education, De La Salle University, where she completed her Master of Education in Educational Leadership and Management in 2025. In 2026, she was awarded a scholarship under the Dialogue on Innovative Higher Education Strategies (DIES) Programme, a collaboration between the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) and the German Rector's Conference, funded by the Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ). She participated in the University Leadership and Management Training Course (UNILEAD), an intensive program organized by DAAD and the C3L Center for Lifelong Learning at the Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg, Germany.

ALLAN A. BASAS, Ph.D. (University of Santo Tomas), is a theology professor at the University of Santo Tomas and is the Assistant Director of the Institute of Religion. He earned his Licentiate, Master's, and Doctorate in Sacred Theology and is currently pursuing his second doctoral degree in philosophy at the same university. He has presented papers at national and international conferences and has published articles in national and international journals on topics such as ecclesiology, culture, religions, and religiosity. His recent publications include a co-authored article, "Applying Pope Francis's Culture of Encounter as a Framework for Pastoral Accompaniment of Youth Suffering From Depression," published in Pastoral Psychology (2025), and a co-authored article, "Theological and Ethical Perspectives on Gene Editing and the Sanctity of Life: Rare Genetic Diseases in the Philippines as a Model," published in Journal of Religion

ROBERT JAMES M. BOYLES, Ph.D. (De La Salle University), is an Associate Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University. At present, he is also a Visiting Associate Professor at the University of Wollongong's Australian Centre for Health Engagement, Evidence and Values (ACHEEV). The said year-long fellowship is supported by a Research Fellowship Grant from the Southeast Asia Bioethics Network, funded by the Wellcome Trust [222870/Z/21/Z]. His recent publications include a co-authored article, "Ethical and Social Concerns of Artificial Intelligence in Asia," published in NanoEthics (2025), and the article "Conjectures on the Possibility of Recasting Hume's Guillotine for Hybrid-Designed Artificial Moral Agents," published in this journal, Philosophia: International Journal of Philosophy (2025).

MARK ANTHONY DACELA, Ph.D. (De La Salle University) is Associate Professor and Chair of the Department of Philosophy at De La Salle University. His research focuses on epistemology, moral psychology, intellectual virtues, and collective epistemic systems. His recent work examines epistemic injustice, AI ethics, moral responsibility, medical populism, and the epistemic dimensions of education and public discourse. He is co-editor of Stephen Hetherington on Epistemology: Knowing, More or Less, published by Bloomsbury. His recent publications include articles in Philosophy & Technology, Philosophy, Psychiatry, & Psychology, and Logos & Episteme. His co-authored article, The Philippine Higher Education Sector in the Time of COVID-19, published in Frontiers in Education, was recognized by De La Salle University as the most cited Scopus-indexed paper in the humanities and education for 2020 and 2021.

NIMROD J. DACLES, B.A. (Ateneo de Zamboanga University), is an upcoming scholar who is currently pursuing a Master of Arts in Philosophy at Ateneo de Manila University. He earned his undergraduate degree in Philosophy from Ateneo de Zamboanga University, where he also taught in the Philosophy Department for a year. His research interests include virtue epistemology, educating for intellectual virtue, vice epistemology, and social epistemology.

FEORILLO PETRONILO A. DEMETERIO III, Ph.D. (University of the Philippines Diliman) is a Distinguished Full Professor 1 of the Department of Filipino, College of Liberal Arts, and the Executive Director of the Research and Grants Management Office, De La Salle University. He is the author of the books Ang mga Ideolohiyang Politikal ng Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (2012), Ferdinand Blumentritt and the Philippines (2013), and The Socio-Political Discourses of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (2018), as well as of various essays on hermeneutics, cultural studies, Philippines studies, and Filipino philosophy that are published in a number of local and international journals. He specializes in Filipino Philosophy, Cultural Studies, and Heritage Studies. His recent publications include a co-authored article, “The Political Ideologies of the United Church of Christ in the Philippines (UCCP) Under the Marcos Regimes,” published in Religions (2025).

JOHN MARTIN A. DIAO, M.A. (University of San Jose-Recoletos) is a philosophy faculty member of the Department of Philosophy and Social Sciences, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Visayas State University. He earned his Bachelor of Philosophy from the University of San Carlos, Cebu, and his Master of Arts in Philosophy from the University of San Jose-Recoletos, Cebu. He is currently pursuing his PhD in Philosophy at De La Salle University-Manila as a St. Miguel Febres Cordero scholar under the supervision of Dr. Feorillo A. Demeterio III. His research interests include deepfakes, ethics, existentialism, fake news, and public pedagogy.

ENRIQUE BENJAMIN FERNANDO III, M.A. (University of the Philippines Diliman), is an Assistant Professor at the Department of Philosophy at the University of the Philippines Diliman. He earned his MA in Philosophy in 2021 and his double major in BS Management Engineering and AB Philosophy from the same institution.

He recently graduated from the Postgraduate Certificate (PGCert) in Philosophy from the University of Cambridge. He is currently a full-time postgraduate student completing his MPhil degree at Hughes Hall, University of Cambridge. His research interests are in Philosophy of Law and Philosophy of Mind. His recent publications include “The Socratic Elenchus and the Method of Mid-Twentieth Century Conceptual Analysis,” published in Oxford Philosophy Society Annual Review (2025), and “Can Legal Obligations Arise From Mere Social Facts?” published in American Philosophical Association (APA) Law and Philosophy Series (2025).

JOYCE FUNGO, M.A. (De La Salle University) is an Assistant Professorial Lecturer at the Department of Philosophy at De La Salle University-Manila, an Associate Professorial Lecturer in the Department of Philosophy and Humanities at the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. She is currently a postgraduate student in the School of Divinity, History, Philosophy, and Art History at the University of Aberdeen. She teaches Metaphysics, Special Questions in Ethics, and Epistemology. Her training is in Epistemology, and her research work and teaching philosophy are informed by critical race theory, feminist theory, and non-ideal philosophy.

CARL JAYSON D. HERNANDEZ, Ph.D. (University of Santo Tomas), is a faculty member of the Department of Philosophy at Ateneo de Manila University, where he teaches core philosophy courses to undergraduate students in the Loyola Schools. He earned his AB in Philosophy from the Immaculate Conception Major Seminary and his MA in Philosophy from the University of Santo Tomas. He has published several articles in national and international journals. His recent publications include the article “Is Philosophical Suicide Necessary in Religious Education? A Lucid Religious Education With and Beyond the Camusian Paradigm,” published in Discover Education (2025), and “Formulating an Eco-Rational Philosophy for Children in the Philippines Context,” published in Human Arenas (2026). His research interests include existential aesthetics, philosophy and fiction, philosophy of religion, existentialism, social epistemology, and the philosophy of Albert Camus.

ZHUOYING JIANG, M.A. (St. Petersburg State University) is a PhD candidate at Saint Petersburg State University with a research agenda focused on art studies (history of arts), art education, art history, ethic arts, museology, curating, and custom design. He published articles include “Analysis of Historical Changes in Socialist Realist Painting” published in Scientific Forum: Philology, Art Criticism and Cultural Studies, a collection of articles based on the materials of the LXXII International Scientific and Practical Conference (2023), and a co-authored paper “The Practical Guidance of Confucian Philosophy for Higher Art Education in china within the Context of New Liberal Arts,” published in this journal, Philosophia: International Journal of Philosophy (2025).

ZYRA F. LENTIJA, M.A., Ph.L. (University of Asia and the Pacific), is a full-time instructor there and the legal officer of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society. She is a doctoral candidate at the Pontifical University of the Holy Cross, Rome, focusing on Plato’s epistemology and theory of education. Her publications include an article, “A Christian Philosophy Grounded in the Experience of Truth,” published in Studia Philosophiae Christianae (2023), a book chapter “Balanga City Local Government Unit and the EduChild Parenting Program in Empowering Citizens to Building a Learning City for a Revitalized Society” in Humanistic Management in the Public Sector. Humanism in Business Series, Palgrave Macmillan (2025), and “The Vulnerable Exchange: Face-to-Face Interaction as an Antidote to Virtual Detachment,” Forum. Supplement to Acta Philosophica (2025).

XIAOYAN LI, Ph.D. (Jeonbuk National University), teaches courses in Landscape Art History, Planning, and Design at the School of Art, Shandong Jianzhu University, and leads academic research and projects focused on the aesthetics of landscape art. Her professional experience includes: faculty member at the School of Ecology and Landscape Architecture, Dezhou University; Lecturer and Deputy Director of the Department of Landscape Architecture at the School of Art, Shandong Jianzhu University; and Research Fellow at the Institute of Leisure and Landscape Planning, Jeonbuk National University, Republic of Korea. Among her works are Modern Forestry Theory and Management (2023) and Urban Design and Planning Management (2021), among others.

SOFIA KISSE LUNA, B.A. (University of the Philippines Diliman) earned her Bachelor’s degree in Philosophy at the University of the Philippines Diliman in 2025. Here, she developed an affinity for exploring and examining debates and discourse within legal philosophy. She was a co-facilitator in a philosophical writing workshop for undergraduate students studying Philosophy of Mind and has been regularly attending seminars under the Cambridge Forum for Legal and Political Philosophy. She is a recipient of the Sydney International Student Award and is currently pursuing her Juris Doctor degree at the University of Sydney.

JESUS DEGRACIAS Z. PRINCIPE, Ph.D. (Katholieke Universiteit Leuven) is the Research Director of Panpacific University. His dissertation is on ancient Greek Philosophy, specifically, Plato. His academic interests include ethics, philosophy of religion, ancient Greek thought, philosophy and literature, Asian philosophy, and qualitative research topics. He is a co-author of two books in Ethics: A Course Module for Ethics, published in 2021, and Ethics: Foundations of Moral Valuation, published in 2025.

JUNNO ALFONSUS SALVANERA, B.A. (University of the Philippines Diliman) is a graduate of Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from the University of the Philippines Diliman in 2025. He is currently a student at the University of the Philippines College of Law. His research interests are Philosophy of Law, Political Law, and Public International Law.

KURT CHRISTIAN B. TUBERA, B.A. (De La Salle University), is an instructor in the Department of Philosophy at the University of the Philippines Diliman, Philippines, where he is also completing his MA in Philosophy. He currently teaches Philosophical Analysis and Epistemology at the undergraduate level. He specializes in Epistemology. He published his works, which focus on social epistemology, analytic epistemology, and AI, in Logos & Episteme, Asia-Pacific Social Science Review, and Philosophy & Technology. Recently, he received two international publication awards for papers published in 2025. His recent publication is a co-authored article, “Deathbots and the Moral Knowledge of Grief,” published in Philosophy and Technology (Springer, 2026).

RANIE B. VILLAVER, Ph.D. (University of New South Wales), is a Professor of Philosophy at the University of San Carlos. He has presented papers in international conferences and has published articles in international journals. His research interests include Chinese philosophy, epistemology, philosophy of language, ethics, and philosophical logic. His publication includes “Zhuangzi as Externalist: Reconciling Two Interpretations of the Happy Fish Debate,” published in Asian Philosophy (2023).