

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

SAMET BAGCE, Ph.D. (London School of Economics and Political Science, University of London), is Associate Professor of Philosophy in the Department of Philosophy, Middle East Technical University, Ankara, Turkey. He was once a visiting professor and a visiting scholar, three times, at the Department of Philosophy, University of Texas. He was likewise a visiting scholar under the Erasmus Faculty Exchange Programme at the Department of Philosophy, University of Helsinki, Finland. He has published many articles.

JEFFREY M. CENTENO, Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila), is Director of the Planning, Quality Assurance, and Communications Office of Saint Louis University, Baguio City. He has published in local and international journals. His areas of professional expertise include strategic management and inclusive education.

PETER M. COLLINS, Ph.D. (Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.), is Senior Research Fellow at the Institute for the History of Philosophy and Pedagogy in Rockville, Maryland. His teaching and research focus is on philosophy and education. He was a full-time faculty member at Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He taught in various universities in the United States and in eight other countries, including the Philippines. He has several publications.

SUNDAY OLAOLUWADADA, Ph.D. (University of Ibadan, Nigeria), is Senior Lecturer at the Ekiti State University, Nigeria. Development studies, African philosophy, and cultural studies are his research interests. He is the author of Methods of rational inquiry (2005) and of several published papers.

NOELLE LESLIE DELA CRUZ, Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila), is Associate Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University, Manila. She coedited Feminista: Race, class, and gender in the Philippines (2011). She received first prize for poetry in the prestigious Philippines Free Press Literary Awards for her ekphrastic poem "Discourse." She specializes in existentialism, phenomenology, feminist philosophy, and philosophy of literature.

BENSON OHIHONIGBOIN, Ph.D. (Ambrose Alli University, Ekpoma, Nigeria) is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Religion and African Culture, Adekunle Ajasin University, Nigeria. He is a recipient of a research grant from the International Association for History of Religions (IAHR) and is the review editor of the Journal of Religion and African Culture. He has read papers and published books and articles locally and abroad.

ENGELBERT CALIMLIM PASAG, Ph.D. (Saint Louis University, Baguio City), is Assistant Professor at Dankook University, Jukjeon, South Korea. He teaches marketing, business strategy, human resources, and management. He obtained his master's degree in business administration at the Asian Institute of Management, Makati City and his A.B. Philosophy at Saint Louis University. He is Visiting Professor and International Linkages Consultant of the Panpacific University North Philippines, Urdaneta City. He has delivered numerous papers in international conferences.

MARIE CHRIS B. RAMOYA, M.A. (Saint Louis University, Baguio City), currently pursues a doctorate in philosophy at the Ateneo de Manila University, Quezon City. Having taught at Saint Louis University and the University of the Philippines in Baguio City, she now teaches at the Ateneo de Manila University. Her research interests include postmodernism, the philosophy of the social sciences, and Jacques Derrida. She has published book reviews and is finishing a textbook on the philosophy of man.