

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

SHIERWIN AGAGEN. CABUNILAS, M.A. (Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium), is currently a student at the Institute of Philosophy in Belgium. He is a member of the Clergy of the Diocese of Baguio (Province of Benguet, Philippines), Philosophical Association of Northern Luzon (PANL) and Research in Political Philosophy Leuven (RIPPLE). He has taught at Saint Francis Xavier Seminary and San Pablo Seminary, School of Philosophy, Baguio City. His research interests include Politics of Anthropology, Social and Political Theory. He is writing a dissertation on Ethno-federalism in the Philippines.

PETER M. COLLINS, Ph.D. (Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.), is Senior Research Fellow at the Institute for the History of Philosophy and Pedagogy in Rockville, Maryland. His teaching and research focus is on philosophy and education. He taught philosophy as a full-time faculty member of Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He also taught in various other universities and published papers in the United States and in several other countries, including the Philippines.

+ROLANDO M. GRIPALDO, Ph.D. (University of the Philippines, Quezon City), was a retired full professor from the Mindanao State University, Marawi City, and De La Salle University, Manila. He was the editor of this journal and has read papers in various venues locally and abroad. He has published articles and books. His interests include the Anglo-American, Continental, and Pragmatic traditions.

MARK OMOROVIE IKEKE, Ph.D. (Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka, Nigeria, and Fordham University, Bronx, New York). He is Senior Lecturer and Acting Head of the Department of Religious Studies and Philosophy, Delta State University, Abraka, Nigeria. His research interests include environmental ethics, religious education, justice and peace education, indigenous peoples and cultures, conflict resolution and management, human rights, globalization and citizenship studies, and African philosophy.

CHARLES NWEKE, Ph.D. (Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka, Nigeria) He is a Senior Lecturer and Acting Head of the Department of Philosophy, Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka, Nigeria. His research interests include African culture, values and philosophy.

JOSEPH MARTIN M. JOSE, BA (De La Salle University, Manila) finished his bachelor's degree in philosophy, summa cum laude, at De La Salle University-Manila. His senior research paper won the outstanding thesis award. Currently, he is taking up his doctoral degree in philosophy (ladderized program) at the same university. His research interests include existential philosophy, Eastern philosophy, comparative East-West, Filipino philosophy, and internet studies.

JAMES LAWLER, Ph.D. (University of Chicago) is a retired Associate Professor of Philosophy at the State University of New York at Buffalo. He has authored several books including Matter and spirit: The battle of metaphysics in modern Western philosophy before Kant (2006), The God tube: Uncovering the hidden spiritual message in pop culture (2010) among others. He is very active in refereeing articles for Philosophia in view of his expertise in Marxism and Critical Theory. His research interests include history of modern Western philosophy; Kant, Hegel, Marx, Sartre, Baudrillard, and popular culture

NINOTCHKA MUMTAJ ALBANO, M.A. (De La Salle University, Manila) is a Ph.D. student at De La Salle University-Manila where she is currently working towards a dissertation on the male gaze and the male nude in visual art and print media. She is a DLSU doctoral apprentice under the DLSU Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and Innovation Doctoral Apprenticeship program, assigned to the Assistant Dean (former Director) of Research and Advanced Studies of the DLSU College of Liberal Arts. Her research interests are philosophy of art and aesthetics, feminist philosophy, feminist aesthetics, existentialism and eastern philosophy.

BRENDAN SWEETMAN, Ph.D. (University of Southern California) is a professor of philosophy and holds the Sullivan Chair in Philosophy at Rockhurst University, Kansas City, Missouri, USA. He is the author or editor of twelve books, including Religion and science: An introduction (2010), The vision of Gabriel Marcel (2008), Religion: Key concepts in philosophy (2007). He has been a Visiting Scholar and Keynote Speaker at several universities and colleges in the U.S. He has given lectures and presentations in many countries. His research interests include philosophy of religion, contemporary European philosophy, ethics and applied ethics, and political philosophy.

WILFRIED M. A. VANHOUTTE, Ph.D. (Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium), has studied at Pontificio Ateneo Sant' Anselmo, Rome. Currently, he is a part-time professor of philosophy and heads a study center for the history and spirituality of the CICM mission at the Saint Louis University, Baguio City. He also regularly contributes to the university's campus publications. His fields of interest are in the history of philosophy, philosophy of culture, philosophical anthropology, and the border area between philosophy and religious spirituality. He is the book review editor of this journal.