

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

MARK KEVIN S. CABURAL, Ph.D. (Xiamen University) is a Postdoctoral Researcher at the Department of Philosophy, Xiamen University. He is a recipient of the 2021 China International Postdoctoral Exchange Fellowship (博士后国际交流计划引进项目), which supports his current research about how friendship can shed light on ethical and political concerns. His research interests include Comparative and Intercultural Philosophy, Ancient Chinese Philosophy, Ancient Greek and Roman Philosophies, Ethics, and Political Philosophy. He has published book reviews in Dao: A Journal of Comparative Philosophy and original articles in Frontiers of Philosophy in China and Philosophy East & West: A Quarterly of Comparative Philosophy. His article, included in this current volume of Philosophia: International Journal of Philosophy, was supported by the National Social Science Fund of China (Grant No.: 21&ZD051).

XUDONG HAO, Ph.D. (Nankai University) is an Associate Professor of Philosophy at the East China Normal University, Shanghai. He is the Deputy Secretary-General of the Council of the Logic Society. His research focuses on philosophical logic, philosophy of logic, and ancient Chinese logic. He has published articles in three high-quality journals – Philosophia, Axiomathes, and Asian philosophy. He teaches formal logic, mathematical logic, modal logic, and history of logic at the undergraduate and post-graduate levels.

PATRICK O. ALEKE, Ph.D. (University of KwaZulu Natal) is an honorary lecturer at the University of KwaZulu-Natal and a lecturer at St Joseph's Theological Institute, Cedara, KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa. He holds a Bachelor of Philosophy from Pontifical Urbaniana University, Rome - Italy, a Bachelor of Theology from the Catholic University of Eastern Africa, Nairobi – Kenya, a Licentiate in Philosophy (Master of Philosophy) from Pontifical Gregorian University, Rome – Italy, and Ph.D. in Philosophy from University of KwaZulu Natal, South Africa.

LUÍS CORDEIRO-RODRIGUES, Ph.D. (University of York) is an associate professor at the Department of Philosophy, Yuelu Academy, Hunan University, China. He has published over 60 papers on applied ethics topics, such as just war theory, public health ethics, and bioethics. He is the editor of Animals, Race and Multiculturalism (2017), Philosophies of Multiculturalism (2019), and Comparative Just War Theory (2019).

JONATHAN O. CHIMAKONAM, Ph.D. (University of Calabar) is a research fellow at the University of South Africa, South Africa. His teaching and research interests include African philosophy, logic, environmental ethics, and decolonial thinking. His articles have appeared in several refereed and accredited international journals. He has authored, co-authored, edited, and co-edited several books on African philosophy, including the latest: African Metaphysics, Epistemology, and a New Logic: Decolonial Approach to Philosophy (Springer, 2021). He is a second-generation member of the prestigious Calabar School of Philosophy.

JUSTIN NNAEMEKA ONYEUKAZIRI (歐思鼎), Ph.D. (Fu Jen Catholic University) was an Assistant Professor at the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, Providence University, Taiwan. Presently he is in Fu Jen Academia Catholica as a researcher engaging in research on the "Philosophy of Science and Technology" with a special focus on Artificial Intelligence in relation to human personhood, cognition, and its cognate philosophical problematics. He is also an Adjunct Assistant Professor at the Center of Holistic Education, Fu Jen Catholic University. He is passionate about interdisciplinary research and comparative philosophical research in Western, Chinese, and African Philosophies. He is also interested in Philosophy of Science, Mind, AI and NS, Logic, and Mathematics. He is a member of the Chinese Philosophy Association in Taiwan (中國哲學會), and also a member of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society (PNPRS). He is also an Honorary member of the Phi Tau Phi Scholastic Honor Society of the Republic of China.

JOSE RAMON E. DE LEON, Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila), was a Full Professor of Philosophy at Bicol University, Philippines. He was the main proponent for the offering of the AB Philosophy degree program in the said university and had served as the Chair of its Philosophy Department until his retirement. He passed away on October 10, 2022. His life, personal and academic, continues to be an inspiration for both his students and colleagues to pursue intellectual excellence with a moral compass.

NAPOLEON M. MABAQUIAO, JR., Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila), is a Full Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University, Manila. He had served as the Chair of the Department of Philosophy of the said university and currently serves as its Graduate Program Coordinator. He specializes in the areas of philosophy of mind, philosophy of language, and ethics; and promotes the use of Filipino language in philosophical research.

ANTHONY LAWRENCE BORJA, M.A. (De La Salle University) is an Assistant Professorial Lecturer in the Department of Political Science and Development Studies at De La Salle University, Manila, where he is also a Research Affiliate at the La Salle Institute of Governance (LSIG). He is currently handling courses on political theory and comparative politics. He is also a Ph.D. Candidate in Public Administration from the School of International and Public Affairs at Shanghai Jiao Tong University, with a dissertation on illiberal democratic values in East and Southeast Asian electoral democracies. His publications and current research projects are on democratic theory, political participation, the question of citizenship, and the theory of popular sovereignty.

HAZEL T. BIANA, Ph.D. (De La Salle University) is a faculty member of the Department of Philosophy at De La Salle University, Manila, Philippines, and a Research Fellow of both the Southeast Asia Research Center and Hub (SEARCH) and the Social Development Research Center (SDRC). She is the current Vice President of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines (PAP). She recently completed a research grant on Feminist Artificial Intelligence from the Center for Science, Technology and Society, Chulalongkorn University-Thailand, and is now working on a research project on the AI (Em)powered Mobility of Women with the aid of a grant from the Instituto Tecnológico de Costa Rica. This year, she is also working as a guest editor of the Journal of International Women's Studies. Her research interests are diverse and interdisciplinary, with topics on feminist philosophy, gender studies, the philosophy of place, and cultural criticism. hazel.biana@dlsu.edu.ph.

JEREMIAH JOVEN JOAQUIN, Ph.D. (De La Salle University) is a Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University, Manila, Philippines, where he is also a Founding Research Fellow of the Southeast Asian Research Center and Hub (SEARCH) and a Research Affiliate at the Jesse Robredo Institute for Governance (JRIG). He is also an Associate Member of the University of Birmingham Centre for Philosophy of Religion and a Grantee of the Centre's Global Philosophy of Religion Project. He is the present President of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines (PAP), the founding Secretary-General of the Union of Societies and Associations of Philosophy in the Philippines (USAPP), and a member of the Australasian Association of Philosophy (AAP), Australasian Association for Logic (AAL), Association for Symbolic Logic (ASL), the Arthur N. Prior Studies Virtual Lab, and the Sydney School of Realist Mathematics. He specializes in logic and metaphysics but also works on other areas of philosophy. jeremiah.joaquin@dlsu.edu.ph

EUGEN TĂNĂSESCU, Ph.D. (Ovidius University) is a lecturer of Multiculturalism, Worship Culture, and Communication at Constanta Maritime University, Constanta, Romania. He is a member of the Union of Professional Journalists of Romania (UZPR), a Counselor at the Archdiocese of Tomis, and an Executive of Radio Dobrogea station in Constanta. He is specialized in religion, culture, and communication, where as a journalist, he has written articles on these topics.

DANIEL DĂNECI-PĂTRĂU, Ph.D. (Alexandru Ioan Cuza" Iași University) is a Lecturer at the Constanta Maritime University. He graduated from the Faculty of Mathematics of "Ovidius" University in Constanța in 2000 and the Faculty of Financial Accounting Management of Spiru Haret University in 2004. After his master's degree in Harmonized Accounting in 2006, he attended the Doctoral School of the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration of the "Alexandru Ioan Cuza" Iași University and graduated in 2011. He specialized in human resources management. He also collaborates with Ovidius University in Constanta, where he teaches philosophy seminars at the Faculty of Theology. He authored and co-authored several books on management and economics and published more than fifty articles in specialized magazines or volumes of international conferences.

JOVE JIM S. AGUAS, Ph.D. (University of Santo Tomas) is a Professor of Philosophy, University of Santo Tomas. He is also a research faculty at the Center for Theology, Religious Studies, and Ethics of UST. He is the Executive Governor of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society and the Editor-in-Chief of this journal. His publications include Person, Action and Love: The Philosophical Thoughts of Karol Wojtyla (2014), The Good and Happy Life: An Introduction to Ethical Systems (2019). He has published articles in local and international journals. He received the Dangal ng UST Hall of Fame Award in 2016. His research interests include existentialism, intercultural/interreligious dialogue, philosophy of religion, and ethics.