

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

DAMIAN ILODIGWE, Ph.D. (Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium) is a Catholic priest of the Archdiocese of Ibadan, Nigeria. Since 1993, he has been on the Formation and Academic Staff of Ss. Peter and Paul Major Seminary, Ibadan, where he teaches Metaphysics and Epistemology. His research interests include metaphysics, epistemology, analytic philosophy and speculative philosophy. He has published articles in international journals and publications on the philosophies of Bradley, Maritain, Berkeley, Kant and Hegel.

UFUK ÖZEN BAYKENT, Ph.D. (Uludag University, Turkey), teaches philosophy of language and English Literature at Uludag University, Bursa, Turkey. Having obtained her BA and MA degrees in foreign language teaching, she focused on the study of language and literature. Her PhD in Philosophy directed her studies towards an interdisciplinary context, focusing on the links among philosophy, language, and literature. She has published papers on philosophy of education, philosophy of language, and philosophy in literature.

JUAN RAFAEL G. MACARANAS, Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila) is a Professor of Philosophy and Theology at the School of Multidisciplinary Studies of De La Salle-College of Saint Benilde, Manila. He is currently the Chairman of the Board of Governors, Philippine National Philosophical Research Society (PNPRS). He has presented papers in international conferences on education and pedagogy. He specializes in Philosophy of Education. His research interests include Philosophy, Theology, Ethics, and Music.

NAPOLEON M. MABAQUIAO, JR., Ph.D. (De La Salle University, Manila), is Professor at the Philosophy Department of De La Salle University, Manila. He has published in local and international journals and has read papers in both national and international conferences. He has written a book on the philosophy of mind. His research interests include philosophy of mind, philosophy of language, and ethics.

MIGUEL LÓPEZ-ASTORGA, Ph.D. (University of Cadiz, Spain), is Associate Professor and Researcher at the Institute of Humanistic Studies “Juan Ignacio Molina,” Talca University, Talca campus, Chile. He specialized in logic and philosophy of science. His interests include philosophy of education, epistemology, foundations of logic, and ethics, among others. He has published several articles in international journals.

AMANDA JUICO DELA CRUZ (De La Salle University, Manila) a candidate for Master’s degree in Art Studies: Art Theory and Criticism in the University of the Philippines-Diliman. Her senior research paper, which is the draft of her article for the current issue, won the Outstanding Undergraduate Thesis award at the De La Salle University. Her academic interests include feminism, non-scientific study of sex, and aesthetics.

JOVE JIM S. AGUAS, Ph.D. (University of Santo Tomas, Manila) is a professor of philosophy at the University of Santo Tomas, Manila. He is a research faculty associated with the Center for Religious Studies and Ethics of UST. He is the Executive Governor of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society (PNPRS). He has written extensively on culture, philosophy of religion, ethics and philosophy of the human person and has published several articles in international journals on the said areas. His research interests are in existentialism, intercultural and interreligious dialogue, philosophy of religion and ethics.

ADRIAN V. REMODO M.A. (De La Salle University) is a full-time faculty member of the Philosophy Department of Ateneo de Naga University. A Bikolano essayist, he has written works in Bikol and was given special recognitions including the Premio Tomas Arejola for Literaturang Bikolnon in 2006 and first prize winner of the Salita ng Taon of the Filipinas Institute of Translation in 2008. His research interests include metaphilosophy and theories of meaning.